

Do you want to change the world?

IYTT Conference Call 2021
iythinktank.com

INTERNATIONAL YOUTH
THINK TANK

You are bold and audacious. You are 18 to 24 years old. You look to the future. You do not accept the status quo. You want to change the world. If this describes you, apply to participate in a powerful encounter for change within our International Youth Conference, bringing together forward-thinking young people like yourself, and like-minded influential European decision makers and research scholars. Hope to see you in Gothenburg on 22-25 November 2021!

Carefully optimistic that the situation regarding covid-19 is improving, we invite you and some 25 other young people from the cities, suburbs, and countryside of Europe to a four-day conference. We are planning for an event fully on site in Gothenburg, but will adapt to a hybrid or online format if necessary. We pay for sustainable travelling to and from the conference, lodging, and meals. The overall goal for the conference is to stand up for a democratic and open society, and to resist the pessimistic ideas of contemporary nationalism and populism.

Your voice will be heard when you and the other conference participants present your ideas and suggestions on how to sustain a democratic and open society in a culminating 10-minute statement.

You will engage in lively discussions evolving around appointed tasks, share your life stories and experiences, visions, and longings for the future.

You apply, by submitting a personal presentation and argumentation of why we should choose you. Sign up at iythinktank.com no later than August 16. Please help us spread the word by sharing this invitation with your friends, colleagues, and relatives. I look forward to your application!

Urban Strandberg

Conference Organizer, Managing Director and Co-Founder of the International Youth Think Tank

Conference Sponsors:

MARCUS AND AMALIA
WALLENBERG FOUNDATION

